Remember ... once a member, always a member!

Credit Union of Denver is committed to being a leader in:

- Providing quality financial service
- Exceeding members' expectations
- Achieving a loyal relationship with members and staff

Credit Union of Denver was established in 1931 by federal employees. Our charter, the oldest credit union charter issued in the State of Colorado, has been amended over the years to include a variety of government agencies, local businesses, and family members. Unlike other financial institutions, a credit union is a "not for profit" financial cooperative, owned entirely by its members. Profits are returned to our membership in the form of higher dividends, lower loan rates, and minimal fees.

As a Prime Shares depositor, you immediately take on the status of a member-owner. All natural-person members 18 years of age or older and in good standing may annually vote for the individuals who oversee and direct the operations of the credit union.

We offer a wide variety of financial services in order to meet the needs of our diverse membership. This booklet will outline the products and services in addition to the policies and regulations governing your membership account. We look forward to providing you with excellence in our financial products and level of service.

Please retain this booklet for your records.

MEMBERSHIP ELIGIBILITY

Credit Union of Denver Membership is a Privilege. It is not a Right. The credit union has no obligation to open a membership account or to extend any services to any particular person. Simply being qualified to apply for membership (i.e., being within the Field of Membership of the credit union) does not obligate the credit union to allow any person(s) to become a member when it is in the best interests of the credit union to deny membership. This applies to new applicants as well as to any persons whose membership is terminated for any reason who reapplies for membership at a later time. As stated in Article III of Credit Union of Denver's bylaws, "an initial deposit and minimal balance are required to open and maintain a Prime Savings Account." A minimum balance in the Prime Savings Account must be maintained to obtain or continue other services; access, loans, deposit products, transaction services, etc. Any portion of this amount, if withdrawn, may cause your membership to be automatically revoked. To be eligible to apply for membership you must be an individual or qualified legal entity that falls within the credit union's field of membership eligibility. To verify your eligibility for any accounts, services, or loan products, now and in the future, or to assist us in enforcing our rights under any agreement that you may have with us, you authorize us to make inquiry to determine your employment history and to obtain information concerning any accounts with other institutions and your credit history, including consumer credit reports. If you request a non-natural person account such as a business account, trust account or estate account, you authorize us to make such employment, credit and financial institution inquiries (including the acquisition of consumer credit reports) as we deem necessary on all individuals signing on the account in any capacity to determine the employment history, financial institution history and credit history of all such parties. You agree that this authority applies to any account, account-related service, loans or other financial products you request or which we may offer or make available to you. Credit report information pulled in connection with any authorized request for any service or accounts with the credit union may be used to assess and/or offer other credit union services and/or products. By signing the credit union's Membership application you certify that you are within the credit union's field of membership. In the event that the credit union at any time determines that you are not legally eligible for membership, or you fail to provide such information upon request as is necessary for the credit union to ascertain your continued eligibility for membership, or you fail to provide such information or documentation to the credit union as is required by law, or you fail to maintain the required membership deposit in your membership account, the credit union reserves the right to close your credit union account(s) upon notice to you. Certain types of accounts, such as IRA accounts, may be exempt from the minimum deposit requirement.

INDIVIDUAL ACCOUNT

A single party account is an account owned by one member, including any individual, partnership, or other organization qualified for credit union membership. If the account owner dies, the account interest passes, subject to applicable law, to the designated Payable on Death (POD) beneficiary, subject to other provisions of this Agreement governing our protection for honoring transfer and withdrawal requests of an owner or owner's agent prior to notice of an owner's death. If there is no Payable on Death beneficiary listed on the account, the account interest shall pass to the decedent's estate, subject to our rights as noted above. All sub-accounts under the primary account will be owned by the primary member.

JOINT OWNERSHIP ACCOUNT

An account owned by two or more persons is a multiple party account (hereinafter referred to as a "joint ownership account" or "joint account"). Joint ownership accounts will require the same ownership on all account suffixes as subscribed on the Application for Membership. We recognize any of the signatures subscribed on the Application for Membership for the payment of funds or the transaction of any business on this account. Credit Union of Denver may treat funds as having been contributed entirely by any one of the owners for purposes of offset or to enforce any claims or liens against the assets of an owner or funds in a Joint Ownership Account. Each owner agrees to be responsible for all items and fees charged against the account and agrees to repay us for any overdraft against the account or for the amount of any returned item.

Rights of Survivorship.

A joint account includes rights of survivorship. This means when one owner dies, all sums in the account will pass to the surviving owner(s). In the event that the account is an individual account, or upon the death of the last joint account owner, the interest of the deceased owner will pass to the decedent's estate unless a payable on death beneficiary (POD) has been properly designated or unless we are required to remit the interest of deceased owner to someone else by law. Unless otherwise stated on the Application for Membership, or unless otherwise required by law or the terms of this Agreement, a joint account owned by individuals is an account with rights of survivorship, and the interest of a deceased owner will pass to the surviving owner(s). A surviving owner's interest on an account is subject to the credit union's contractual and/or statutory lien for the deceased owner's obligations, and to any security interest or pledge granted by a deceased owner, even if a surviving owner did not consent to it. The rights of a joint owner will always supersede the rights of any designated payable on death beneficiaries.

Control of Joint Account.

Any single account owner acting alone is authorized and deemed to act for all other account owner(s) and any individual owner may instruct us regarding transactions and other account matters pertaining to any subaccount connected to the account, including loans connected to the account. Each owner guarantees the signature(s) of all other owner(s). Except as otherwise set forth herein, any single account owner may individually withdraw any or all funds, stop payment on items, request and utilize Debit Card(s), order checks, contract for overdraft protection, sign-up for and engage in on-line or signatureless transactions, transfer or pledge to us all or any part of the savings on deposit, or engage in any other activity concerning the account without the consent of the other joint account owner(s). In each such case, the act of any single account owner is binding upon all of the other joint account owners. We have no duty to notify any other owner(s) about any transactions. We reserve the right to require written consent of any or all of the account owners, for any transaction(s) which we deem unusual, or for any change to, termination or closure of a joint account. If we receive written notice of a dispute between owners or inconsistent instructions from them, we may suspend all account activity and freeze all funds on deposit or terminate the account and require a court order or written consent from all owners to act.

Joint Account Owner Liability.

Each individual account owner individually guarantees absolutely and unconditionally the prompt payment when due and performance when required of all obligations of the other joint account owner(s) under this Membership and Account Agreement. If a deposited item in a joint account is returned unpaid, an account is overdrawn, or if we do not receive final payment on a transaction, or if any loss is at any time sustained as a result of any of your account transactions, the owners, jointly and severally, are liable to us for the amount of the returned item, overdraft, loss, or unpaid amount and any account charges or fees, regardless of which owner initiated or benefited from the transaction. If any account owner is indebted to us, we may enforce our rights against any account of any joint owner or all funds in the joint account regardless of who contributed them. We may issue ATM or Debit Cards or devices to any account owner who requests them. All account owners are jointly and severally liable for all account activity related to such transaction devices regardless of which owner(s) holds the Card(s) and regardless of which owner initiated or benefited from the Card transaction(s).

Change of Ownership.

If you wish to add a joint owner to your account at any time, we reserve the right to require you to amend the Membership and Services Application to reflect the new joint owner(s) and provide us with such information and documentation regarding the new joint owner(s) as we may request, including but not limited to (a) the new joint owner(s) personal and taxpayer information, (b) the new joint owner(s) signature, and (c) a copy of a valid government issued identification deemed acceptable to the credit union. You understand and agree that all such new account owners shall be subject to credit union membership eligibility inquiries to determine such persons' employment history, credit history and to obtain information concerning any accounts with other institutions, including the acquisition of consumer credit reports. You agree to obtain any necessary authorization for such inquiries from such proposed new joint owners, and you agree to indemnify and hold the credit union harmless from and against any loss, cost or damage sustained by the credit union related to the making of such inquiries. The credit union reserves the right to refuse to allow an individual to be added as a new joint owner to your account, and the credit union may require that an existing joint owner be removed from your account without prior notice for any reason deemed necessary by the credit union for the protection of the credit union or any member of the credit union.

Release of Information.

You understand and agree that all joint owners have full rights to access all information pertaining to a joint account, and that there is no specific right to privacy that may be asserted against other joint account owners.

POD ACCOUNTS (PAYABLE ON DEATH)

A "Payable on Death" (POD) account designation is an instruction to the credit union that an account so designated is payable to the owner or owners during their lifetimes, and when the last account owner dies, it becomes payable to any named and surviving POD beneficiary/payee(s) unless otherwise required by law or the terms of this Agreement. Accounts payable to more than one surviving beneficiary/payee become owned jointly by such beneficiaries/payees without rights of survivorship unless otherwise required by law or the terms of this Agreement. Any POD or trust beneficiary/payee designation shall not apply to Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs), which are governed by a separate beneficiaries/payee designation. We are not obligated to notify any beneficiary/payees of the existence of any account or the vesting of the beneficiary/payee's interest in any account, except as otherwise provided by law.

BUSINESS ACCOUNTS

Subject to certain restrictions and credit union approval, a lawfully created and operating business may establish one or more accounts at the credit union under certain established criteria. Accounts held in the name of a business, organization, or associations are subject to all of the conditions and terms contained in this Membership Booklet for natural person accounts, and the following additional rules. The credit union reserves the right to require or request at any time any documentation deemed necessary by the credit union to (a) verify the legal existence or good standing of the business, (b) verify the nature, specific business activities and transactional account activities of any account holder, or (c) require any and all documents required to comply with State or Federal laws or regulations. Failure to promptly provide such requested information, or falsifying any submitted information, shall be grounds for immediate closure of all accounts held by such account holder. Additionally, the credit union reserves the right to refuse to open a new business account, or close an existing account, for any reason deemed necessary by the credit union in its sole and absolute discretion. Only the persons or entities who have been designated to serve as representatives of the business or authorized Business Card users may transact business on a business account. Any named representative of the business acting alone may act for the business and may instruct us regarding transactions and any other account matters. Each representative of the business guarantees the signature(s) of all other representatives of the business. Any single representative of the business may individually withdraw any or all funds on deposit, stop payment on items, order checks, or engage in any other activity concerning the business account without the consent of the other named representatives. In each such case, the act of any single business representative is binding upon the business and all of the other business representatives. We have no duty to notify any other representative of the business about any transactions. The stated limitations on your liability to the credit union set forth herein do not apply in the case of business or other non-personal accounts. Under no circumstances will we be liable for any special or consequential damages involving such accounts. No POD beneficiary designation or other designation shall apply to a business account. You agree to notify the credit union of any change in this representative authority of your agent. The credit union may rely on the written authorization in the Application for Membership until such time as we are informed of changes in writing and have had a reasonable time to act upon such notice. We may require that third-party checks payable to a business may not be cashed, but must be deposited to a business account. A majority of the ownership interest of any business applying for membership must be eligible for membership at the credit union. A business member does not have voting rights.

Due to Bank Secrecy Act / Anti-Money Laundering (BSA/AML) regulations, the credit union will not open accounts for businesses currently engaged in, or planning to engage in Money Service Businesses, nor will we allow these types of accounts to remain open. Money Service Businesses include the U.S. Postal Service along with five distinct types of financial service providers. The financial service providers are as follows: (1) dealers in foreign exchange, such as currency, monetary instruments, funds or other instruments denominated in currency; (2) check cashers; (3) issuers or sellers of Traveler's Cheques or Money Orders; (4) issuers, sellers or redeemers of Stored Value; and (5) money transmitters.

Under the Unlawful Internet Gambling Act, Title VIII, Chapter 52 of Title 31, United States Code, it is our responsibility to advise you that banking activities connected with unlawful internet gambling is not permitted at the credit union. As such, no business account or personal account at the Credit Union of Denver is allowed now, or in the future, to engage in financial transactions if the source of the funds is through internet gambling. In addition, credit union will not open accounts now, or in the future, or allow accounts to remain open, that directly or indirectly facilitate the production, sale, use or distribution of marijuana, or marijuana products in any form.

Multiple Savings Accounts (Share)

Members may open additional savings accounts in addition to the original Prime Savings account when different ownership or additional savings or checking accounts are needed. Multiple accounts are not subject to new account restrictions if the member has maintained a transaction account in good standing with us for at least 30 days. All suffixes must have the same ownership as the Multiple Savings Account savings suffix 00, and must have a minimum balance of $5.00 in the savings suffix. There is no limit on the number of accounts that may be held by a member although each member will have only one vote, even though they may have multiple accounts.

Coverdell Education Savings Account (ESA)

The ESA program is NOT for retirement, its sole purpose is to pay for education costs. These costs can be for public, private or parochial, elementary, secondary or post-secondary expenses. ESAs are funded with after tax dollars with all earnings tax exempt when used for education related expenses such as tuition & fees, books, supplies & equipment, and computer technology or equipment used for education. The Grantor/Depositor, which does not have to be the parent, is responsible for opening the account, making the first deposit and setting up the Designated Beneficiary (child for whom the ESA is being established) and the Responsible Individual (parent or guardian of the child) who controls the account. Contributions may be made by persons other than the Grantor/Depositor up to the allowed maximum per year. Please see the Credit Union of Denver's IRA Specialist for more details.

Individual Retirement Accounts (Traditional and Roth)

An IRA is an Individual Retirement Account. Credit Union of Denver offers two types of IRA's: Traditional IRA and Roth IRA. The purpose of both is to help the owner save for retirement. IRA's are always held individually. Any qualified individual who is a member of the Credit Union of Denver may open an Individual Retirement Account. The credit union offers Daily Deposit and Certificate of Deposit IRA's. An IRA cannot be held jointly. For income tax purposes, it will be the member's responsibility to determine and report the deductible and non-deductible contributions as well as the taxable and non-taxable portion of distributions occurring each year. In addition, members are responsible for monitoring their own IRA contributions to ensure that excess contributions are not made during any taxable year. Should excess contributions exist, it is the member's responsibility to advise the credit union of action to be taken. Monies deposited in an IRA with the credit union are subject to all state and federal regulations as they apply (See Rates and Fee Schedule). Upon the death of the IRA owner, the beneficiary(s) may elect extended payment options which will require credit union membership.

Account for Living Trust

The following rules govern trust accounts:

a.) A lawfully created trust may establish an account at the credit union under certain criteria. A lawfully created trust is a trust which has been lawfully created in the United States pursuant to a written trust agreement executed by the Grantor/Settlor in which persons or entities have been designated to serve as Trustee(s) and administer the Trust by exercising the powers and authority described in the trust agreement. If the trust is designated as revocable, all of the Settlor(s)/ Grantor(s) of the trust must be current members of the credit union. If the trust is revocable and some of the Settlor(s)/ Grantor(s) are not members of the credit union, the trust cannot be established at the credit union. If the trust is designated as irrevocable, either all of the Settlor(s)/ Grantor(s) of the trust or all of the trust beneficiaries must be current members of the credit union. If the trust is irrevocable and either all of the Settlor(s)/Grantor(s) or all of the beneficiaries are not members of the credit union, the trust cannot be established at the credit union.

b.) The credit union does not have a trust department. Therefore, the credit union cannot act as a Trustee of any shares held in a trust account, nor is the credit union obligated to perform any administrative duties specific to a trust. You understand and agree that the credit union is not bound by and may ignore any specific provisions of a trust which impose any duties, restrictions or other obligations upon the credit union, regardless of whether the credit union has received a copy of the trust. The credit union reserves the right to close any trust account at any time without prior notice by remitting the funds on deposit to the last known trustees.

c.) Any individual trustee may act for the trust and may instruct us regarding transactions and any other account matters. Each trustee guarantees the signature(s) of all other trustee(s). Any single trustee may individually withdraw any or all funds, stop payment on items, order checks, or engage in any other activity concerning the account without the consent of the other trustee(s). In each such case, the act of any single trustee is binding upon the trust and all of the other trustee(s). We have no duty to notify any other trustee(s) about any transactions. Cross-member account transfers may be made in person on trust accounts.

d.) There is no overdraft line of credit allowed on a trust account, and Debit cards are not available. A living trust may not lease a safe deposit box, and Prime Time benefits do not apply to trust accounts. Cross account transfers are also not permitted on Living Trust Accounts.

Trust accounts are not entitled to voting rights.

NCUA Share Insurance: Share insurance for trust accounts is dependent upon the status of the beneficiaries, and is normally $250,000 for each beneficiary. Further details on Share Insurance for trust accounts is available at www.ncua.gov, or in the NCUA Share insurance booklet available in our lobby.

Transfer to Minor Account

Transfer to Minors Accounts are administered in accordance with the Colorado Uniform Transfer to Minor Act under Colorado Statutes, Title II Article 50 11-50-101, et seq CRS. A Transfer to Minor Account (TTM) is created as an individual account by a member who is the custodian. Funds are deposited as an irrevocable gift to a minor. The owner and beneficiary of the account is the minor for whom the gift is made. The custodian of the account has control and possession of the account for the exclusive benefit of the minor. The custodian, except in the case of a court order which dictates otherwise or pursuant to applicable law, is the only party entitled to make withdrawals from, or to close the account. The custodian may make any transactions on the account without inquiry from Credit Union of Denver. If the custodian should die or become disabled, or otherwise incapacitated, Credit Union of Denver may place an administrative hold on the account until instructions are received from any person who is legally authorized to withdraw funds or a court order is received which authorizes the withdrawal. Upon the minor's 21st birthday, the custodian will be notified to transfer funds to the minor's personal account or withdraw the funds, and close the account. This type of account is not eligible for a checking account, overdraft line of credit, loans, or safe deposit box rental. A Transfer to Minor Account does not have voting rights.

Youth Accounts

Credit Union of Denver requires that minor accounts be Joint Ownership Accounts with an owner who has reached the legal age of majority under Colorado law. This joint owner of legal age shall be jointly and severally liable to the credit union and agrees to be responsible for all items and fees charged against the account and to repay us for any overdraft against the account for the amount of any returned item on this account. Credit Union of Denver may make payments of funds directly to the minor without regard to his or her minority. The minor's parent or guardian shall not have any right to access this account unless the parent or guardian is an owner on this account.

Membership Card(s) and Addendum(s). Upon account opening and for any account changes the required Membership Card(s) and Addendum(s) must be completed in a form to be determined by the credit union. An account cannot be made, nor can any changes be honored until accurate, complete Membership Card(s) and Addendum(s) are received, signed by all parties along with any documentation Credit Union of Denver may request. At any time after an account is opened Credit Union of Denver may request that updated card(s) and addendum(s) be completed. If updated card(s) and addendum(s) are requested and not provided by you in a timely fashion, we may place restrictions upon your accounts until they are received. Membership Card(s) and Addendum(s) may be audited once completed. If the result of an audit determines we need additional information, documentation or that new Membership Card(s) and Addendum(s) be generated, Credit Union of Denver may place restrictions on your account if such additional information, documentation or replacement card(s) and addendum(s) are not received in a timely fashion. If we determine that any information that you provided to us is inaccurate or false, we may close your account without further notice to you.

Power of Attorney. The credit union may allow a third person acting as your attorney-in-fact to make transactions regarding your account(s), pursuant to a Power of Attorney, but you agree that the credit union has no obligation to do so. You agree that we may at our discretion refuse to honor any Power of Attorney presented to us for any reason permitted by law. You also agree that we may rely upon a submitted Power of Attorney and that we have no obligation to verify the scope, authenticity, and validity of any Power of Attorney presented to us. If we accept the Power of Attorney, the credit union has no duty to inquire as to the use or purpose of any transaction(s) by your attorney-in-fact, and may restrict or refuse account access, withdrawals and transfers. Additionally, you agree that the credit union has no obligation to determine the duration of any Power of Attorney or the qualifications of the named attorney-in-fact. It is the sole responsibility of the account owner(s) to notify the credit union to remove POA access to an account once an accepted Power of Attorney is no longer necessary or appropriate. Further, you agree that we may request (a) an Agent's Certification under penalty of perjury in a form deemed acceptable to the credit union of any factual matter concerning the Principal, the Agent, or the Power of Attorney; (b) an English translation of the Power of Attorney if the Power of Attorney is not legible or contains, in whole or in part, language other than English; and/or (c) an opinion of counsel selected by the credit union as to any matter of law concerning the Power of Attorney. You agree to reimburse the credit union for all costs and expenses, including attorneys' fees, we incur to obtain such legal opinion or otherwise handle or process any Power of Attorney that you submit to the credit union, and you agree to indemnify us for any loss or other expense we incur from our acceptance and reliance upon your Power of Attorney.

Death of Owner. Credit Union of Denver may honor withdrawals, deposits, transfers, etc. on your account until notification of death has been received by us. Upon notification, the credit union may continue to pay checks and recognize transfers and other payments authorized by the deceased account owner for a period of ten (10) days after the date of death, unless other instructions have been received by the credit union from any party who claims an interest in the account. Should any party claim funds in your account after your death, that party may be requested to indemnify Credit Union of Denver in a form deemed acceptable by the credit union for any losses which result from honoring that claim. Any heirs, successors, or legal representatives of any account owner shall be bound by this agreement.

Substitute Checks. To make check processing faster, federal law (Check 21) permits financial institutions to replace original checks with "Substitute Checks". These checks are similar in size to original checks with a slightly reduced image of the front and back of the original check. The front of a substitute check states: "This is a legal copy of your check. You can use it the same way you would use the original check." You may use a substitute check as proof of payment just like the original check. Some or all of the checks that you receive back from us may be substitute checks. In certain cases, federal law provides a special procedure that allows you to request a refund for losses you suffer if a substitute check is posted to your account (for example, if you think that we withdrew the wrong amount from your account or that we withdrew money from your account more than once for the same check). The losses you may attempt to recover under this procedure may include the amount that was incorrectly withdrawn from your account and fees that were charged as a result of the incorrect withdrawal (for example, NSF check fees). The amount of your refund under this procedure is limited to the amount of your loss or the amount of the substitute check, whichever is less. You also are entitled to interest on the amount of your refund if your account is an interestbearing account. If your loss exceeds the amount of the substitute check, you may be able to recover additional amounts under other law. If you use this procedure, you may receive up to $2,500 of your refund (plus interest if your account earns interest) within ten (10) business days after we receive your claim and the remainder of your refund (plus interest if your account earns interest) not later than forty five (45) calendar days after your claim is received. We may reverse the refund (including any interest on the refund) if we later are able to demonstrate that the substitute check was correctly posted to your account. You must contact us within forty (40) calendar days of the date that we mailed (or otherwise delivered by a means to which you agreed) the substitute check in question or the account statement showing that the substitute check was posted to your account, whichever is later. We will extend this time period if you were not able to make a timely claim because of extraordinary circumstances. Your claim must include 1) a description of why you have suffered a loss, 2) an estimate of the amount of your loss, 3) an explanation of why the substitute check you received is insufficient to confirm that you suffered a loss, and 4) a copy of the substitute check or information to help us identify it.

Postdated Checks. If you write a postdated check, we have the right to pay the check upon presentation without regard to the date on the check and to charge your account. Or, we can return the check unpaid. In either case, Credit Union of Denver shall have no liability to you or any other party for any loss, cost, damage or inconvenience resulting from our handling of any postdated check.

Stale-dated Checks. We may pay or return a check at our option which is more than six months old. In either case, Credit Union of Denver may do this without giving you prior notice and Credit Union of Denver shall have no liability to you or any other party for any loss, cost, damage or inconvenience resulting from our handling of any stale-dated check.

Stop Payment. You may request a stop payment order on any check, including postdated checks, you or any account owner draw upon any savings, checking, or loan account. You may also request a stop payment on a series of checks which are lost or stolen. You may request a stop payment by telephone, mail, online banking, or in person. Stop payment requests can only be honored if you notify Credit Union of Denver in sufficient time to allow us to avoid processing your check. Your stop payment request must include the exact name of the payee, date of the check, check number, exact amount of the check and your account number. Stop payment requests for lost/stolen checks will not have expiration dates. Stop payment release forms will need to be signed for lost/stolen checks to be honored. Credit Union of Denver will not be responsible for failing to stop payment on any check if you should give the credit union incorrect or incomplete information. Verbal requests are effective for fourteen (14) calendar days and may expire unless a signed stop payment request has been received by the credit union. Written stop payment orders are effective for six (6) calendar months. There is a charge for each stop payment request. Please refer to the Rates and Fee Schedule for fees associated with this transaction. In addition, you agree to pay any other expenses or costs we incur as a result of your stop payment request. We will not be liable if we pay a check by mistake (unless we fail to exercise ordinary care under the circumstances and follow normal operating procedures). If we re-credit your account after paying a check over a valid and timely stop payment order, you agree to sign a statement describing the dispute with the payee, to transfer all of your rights against the payee or other holders of the check to the credit union, and to assist us in any legal action. You agree to indemnify and hold the credit union harmless and reimburse Credit Union of Denver for all costs, including attorneys' fees, claims or damages related to the credit union refusing payment of an item, including claims made by any multiple party account owner, endorsee, or payee in failing to stop payment of an item as a result of you providing incorrect or incomplete information. The credit union has no obligation to honor a stop payment request pertaining to a certified or credit union issued item. However, under certain conditions the credit union may effectuate such a request. Such conditions may include but are not limited to: a) your purchasing a lost instrument bond or acceptable indemnity agreement; b) your executing and providing to the credit union a declaration of loss form satisfactory to the credit union; and c) your providing such other assurances to the credit union as the credit union may request. In the event that the credit union accepts a stop payment request on a certified or credit union issued item, that stop payment is subject to being lifted at the credit union's discretion and to waiting such period of time as the credit union may require before reissuing or re-crediting the funds.

Authorized Signature. Credit Union of Denver must have your authorized signature on an Application for Membership in order to access any of your accounts. If for any reason Credit Union of Denver believes a signature on any item is not genuine, we will not be held liable for not honoring any such item. The credit union is authorized to recognize your signature or any preauthorized facsimile signature even if the facsimile was made by an unauthorized person.

Accessibility. Credit Union of Denver authorizes you to make withdrawals or transfers from your account using options allowed by us. Should the credit union choose to accept or return as unpaid any withdrawal or transfer request not on a form authorized by Credit Union of Denver, you will be responsible for any loss incurred by the credit union. We may restrict any transactions on your account in the event that we have a reasonable reason to do so in our sole and absolute discretion.

ACH & Wire Transfers. Credits and debits may be made to or from your account through Automated Clearing House (ACH) transfer or wire transfer. The National Automated Clearing House Association governs ACH transactions. If wire transfers are cleared through the Federal Reserve Bank, they are governed by Federal Reserve Regulation J. Credit Union of Denver is not required to notify you when funds are received, however the transaction will be reflected on your Account Statement. Before processing a wire transfer, the credit union requires that the funds be designated to the recipient, corresponding financial institution and by account or identifying number. Credit Union of Denver and other financial institutions may rely on the identifying account numbers which you have provided, even if the numbers identify a different recipient or institution. (Please refer to the Regulation J disclosure found later in this booklet.)

Signature Verification. Upon presentation of a check, it is not necessary that the credit union consider any information other than the amount of the item, the signature of the maker and the magnetic encoding. This is recognized as ordinary care in paying an item. Credit Union of Denver does not provide sight examination of items.

Rates and Fees. Credit Union of Denver provides and Rates and Fee Schedule which outlines rates, fees and minimum balance requirements that may affect your accounts. The Rates and Fee Schedule may be changed by the credit union at any time. Credit Union of Denver will notify you of specific changes that are required by law.

Withdrawal Restrictions. Sufficient funds or overdraft protection must be available in order to allow withdrawals. Items presented for payment from an account which has non-sufficient funds will be charged a fee as noted in the Rates and Fee Schedule. Credit Union of Denver will notify you as required by law of any changes. Additional withdrawal restrictions may apply in other cases such as: (1) a dispute between the owners (unless a court has ordered the credit union to allow the withdrawal); (2) a legal garnishment or attachment is served; (3) the account secures any obligation to us; (4) required documentation has not been presented; (5) you fail to repay a credit union loan on time; or (6) we receive notice that you have engaged in illegal account activity or account activity that the credit union reasonably believes may cause a loss to the credit union. We reserve the right to require members to give notice in writing of any intended withdrawals from any account of not less than seven (7) days and up to sixty (60) days in accordance with applicable law before such withdrawal except for the funds in the Checking Account. If such action is taken, Credit Union of Denver may notify you. Members may be required to give written notice to the credit union intent to withdraw all or part of any funds in any account in accordance with Credit Union of Denver bylaws.

Transfer Limitations. Please refer to the Regulation D disclosure found later in this booklet.

Checking Restrictions. All checks should be written in black or blue ink. We will not accept responsibility for errors resulting from checks ordered from any source other than the credit union's check printing vendor. You, the member, are responsible for all costs resulting from such errors. If you pay for something with a check, you may authorize your check orally or in writing to be converted to an electronic funds transfer. The merchant will debit your account by using the routing, account and serial number of your check to initiate the transfer whether the check is blank, partially or fully completed and signed. Your account will also be debited for return check fees that you authorize. This Electronic Check Conversion is subject to terms of our Electronic Funds Transfer Agreement. You authorize this conversion by completing the transaction after being told (orally or by a notice posted or sent to you) that the transfer may be processed electronically or also by signing a written authorization. You authorize us to honor any electronic check conversion from your checking account just the same as a regular written check. You remain responsible for notifying us of any unauthorized electronic check transfer shown on your statement. The credit union is under no obligation to pay a check that exceeds the fully paid and collected balance in the account. However, if any account owner writes a check that would exceed such balance and result in their checking account being overdrawn, the Credit Union may treat such balance and result to the credit union for an advance (in multiples predetermined by the credit union) from the savings or loan account identified below sufficient to permit the credit union to pay such check and credit the loan advance to this account if specified. The primary member is responsible for all checking account overdrafts initiated by the joint owner. The prime savings will be set up as the initial overdraft source to the checking account until a subsequent change is initiated by the member. It is the member owner's responsibility to verify that the overdraft protection is set up correctly on the account. Order of overdraft is predetermined and pre-authorized upon opening of account or subsequent change. Credit Union of Denver is not obligated to notify you should a check be returned uncollected for non-sufficient funds. Non-sufficient funds could be a result of check, ATM or Debit Card or holds resulting from notification of a deposited/cashed item being returned not paid. Your account may be charged for the amount of any returned deposit item. For items for which there are nonsufficient funds in your account, we may return the item or pay it and charge you a fee. Please refer to the Rates and Fee Schedule.

If none of the owners are eligible to receive a loan advance as provided above, the credit union may pay such check and transfer funds to the checking account in multiples predetermined by Credit Union of Denver, from any other account suffix from which the owner is then eligible to withdraw funds. Please refer to the Rates and Fee Schedule for a list of current fees.

The credit union may pay a check on whatever day it is presented for payment, notwithstanding the date (or any other limitation on the time of payment) appearing on the check. When paid, checks become the property of the credit union and will not be returned either with the periodic statement of this account or otherwise. Except for negligence, the credit union is not liable for any action it takes regarding the payment or nonpayment of a check. Any objection regarding any item shown on a periodic statement of a checking account is waived unless made in writing to the credit union before the end of 60 days after the statement is mailed. Checking accounts are subject to the credit union's right to require advance notice of withdrawals as provided in its bylaws. The credit union will not be liable for account information provided by you to a third party vendor for the purpose of creating a check and will honor that check under the same guidelines as regular checks. (See Electronic Funds Transfer, Regulation "E" Disclosure). Checking accounts are also subject to such other terms, conditions and service charges as the credit union may establish from time to time.

In paying one or more overdraft(s), Credit Union of Denver does not commit to pay future overdrafts and may discontinue to pay overdrafts without notice. If your account is charged a fee by the credit union that would overdraw your account, you are responsible for paying both the overdrawn amount and any applicable fees immediately.

The Membership and Account Agreement will govern transfers from the Account to pay for a check. Credit Union of Denver's Credit Agreement will govern transfers from a loan to pay a check.

Overdraft Privilege. This is a courtesy service offered for checks, ACH transactions, Automatic Bill-Payments (not those initiated through C*U*D's Bill Pay Service) and reoccurring debit card transactions. At the credit union's discretion, after all available funds from designated overdraft sources have been depleted, this service may pay charges against your account up to $500.00 more than the available account balance. These items will not be returned to the original payee but will be paid and your account will be charged a Non-Sufficient Funds (NSF) fee per transactions (Please refer to the Fee Schedule). Without this service, you would pay the same NSF fee and you could be subject to additional fees from the merchant for the nonpayment of the item. We may pay or authorize items at our discretion, which means that we do not guarantee that we will always pay and authorize any type of transaction or item. This means that while a purchase may have been authorized when there were sufficient funds in your account by the time it presents for payment there may not be sufficient funds to pay the item. Items will be paid in the order they are received by the credit union, not when the transaction occurred. This may result in more than one NSF fee per day. There is no limit on the total number of fees we can charge for overdrawing your account. It is your responsibility to know the balance in your account and to keep track of your purchases. Failure to do so may result in your account going negative and the negative balance could exceed $500.00. Negative account balances must be brought positive within 30 days or your account may be closed.

To qualify for Overdraft Privilege the primary member on the account must be at least 18 years old, the account must not have a loan 15 days past due, the account must be in good standing, and the account owner(s) must not have caused a loss to the credit union. If you qualify for Overdraft Privilege you are automatically enrolled in this service 90 days after the first deposit was made into your checking account. Any account owner may Opt-Out of this service at any time. The credit union may revoke this service at any time. If you are not eligible for Overdraft Privilege on one account at the credit union you are not eligible for Overdraft Privilege on any of your other accounts. If you Opt-Out of Overdraft Privilege you will not be able to use the Debit Card Advantage service.

Business Accounts, Estate Accounts, Living Trust Accounts and Representative Payee Accounts do not qualify for this service. This service does not apply to Teller transactions or transactions initiated through C*U*D's Bill Pay Service. If you use this service in conjunction with Debit Card Advantage the total combined benefit is $500.00.

Debit Card Advantage. This is a service we offer which will allow us to authorize and pay everyday debit card transactions and allow debit card Automated Teller Machine (ATM) withdrawals even if you do not have funds available in your account. At the credit union's discretion, after all available funds from designated overdraft sources have been depleted, this service may authorize charges against your account up to $500.00 more than the available account balance. Without this service you would be unable to utilize your debit card when there are no funds available in your account. If funds are not available in your account, you will be charged a Non-Sufficient Funds (NSF) fee (Please refer to the Fee Schedule) for each transaction of more than $5.00 that posts to your account. Under the Debit Card Advantage service, no fee will be charged for purchases or transactions of $5.00 or less. We may pay or authorize items at our discretion, which means that we do not guarantee that we will always pay and authorize any type of transaction or item. This means that while a purchase may have been authorized when there were sufficient funds in your account by the time it presents for payment there may not be sufficient funds to pay the item. Items will be paid in the order they are received by the credit union, not when the transaction occurred. This may result in more than one NSF fee per day. There is no limit on the total number of fees we can charge for overdrawing your account.

It is your responsibility to know the balance in your account and to keep track of your purchases. Failure to do so may result in your account going negative and the negative balance could exceed $500.00. Negative account balances must be brought positive within 30 days or your account may be closed.

To qualify for Debit Card Advantage the primary member on the account must be at least 18 years old, the account must not have a loan 15 days past due, the account must be in good standing, and the account owner(s) must not have caused a loss to the credit union. If you qualify for Debit Card Advantage you must Opt-In to this service. Your account will be eligible for this service 90 days after the first deposit was made into your checking account. Any account owner may Opt-In to this service at any time. After Opting-In, the credit union will mail you a Confirmation of Opt-In Letter. Receipt of this letter indicates the service should be active and ready for use. Any account owner may Opt-Out of this service at any time. After Opting-Out, the credit union will mail you a Confirmation of Opt-Out Letter. Receipt of this letter indicates the service should be deactivated and should not be able to be used. Because you can Opt-In and Opt-Out of Debit Card Advantage as often as you want, including multiple times in one day, to confirm whether or not you are currently Opted-In or Opted-Out of the service please call 303.234.1700. The credit union may revoke this service at any time. If you are not eligible for Debit Card Advantage on one account at the credit union you are not eligible for Debit Card Advantage on any of your other accounts. If you Opt-Out of Overdraft Privilege you will not be able to use the Debit Card Advantage service.

Business Accounts, Estate Accounts, Living Trust Accounts and Representative Payee Accounts do not qualify for this service. This service does not apply to Teller transactions or transactions initiated through C*U*D's Bill Pay Service.

If you use this service in conjunction with Overdraft Privilege the total combined benefit is $500.00.

Endorsements. The space indicated on the back of a check which is between the top edge and 1 1/2 inches from the top edge is where endorsements must be placed. Checks with endorsements outside of the space may not be accepted by Credit Union of Denver. You will be liable for any loss incurred by Credit Union of Denver due to, or caused by, any endorsements or other markings you or any previous endorser has made on the check which may cause any delay or error in processing the item for payment. Credit Union of Denver is authorized to recognize any of the signatures subscribed on a check, transfer, or other item for deposit into any of your accounts, if they are made payable to, or to the order of, any one or more owners on the account whether or not they are signed by all payees. Credit Union of Denver reserves the right to obtain or request any missing endorsements should we deem it necessary. Should any item presented for payment require an endorsement as stated on the back of the check, Credit Union of Denver may require the endorsement as exactly stated on the item. Items presented for payment in person must be endorsed with the signature of the payee named on the front of the check.

Third Party Checks. A third party check is a check that is made payable to one or more individuals, who then negotiate that check to another party prior to presentment for payment. Credit Union of Denver may refuse to accept any third party check for payment or deposit, unless the payees to whom the check was made payable are present at the time the check is presented for payment or deposit and are able to provide satisfactory proof to the credit union (in the credit union's sole and absolute discretion) that (a) the check(s) have been legally negotiated to the party presenting the check for payment or deposit, (b) all required endorsers have properly endorsed and provided proper identification, and (c) that the check has not been altered and is not subject to any claims or defenses to payment. Should we choose to accept a third party item, a valid Government Issued ID of the original payee will be required on all third party US Treasury checks presented at the teller line, drive-up, night depository, ATM or by mail. Credit Union of Denver may also require a valid Government Issued ID of the original payees on other items at our discretion. There will be a five-day hold on all third party checks over $200.00.

If any payee or party on a third party check is known to have caused a loss to Credit Union of Denver, Credit Union of Denver retains the right to refuse to accept the item for negotiation.

Collection of Items. Credit Union of Denver reserves the right to send any item for collection. If an item presented is drawn on a foreign bank, or we doubt collectability of an item, the credit union reserves the right to accept the item for collection rather than deposit and will not credit your account until the funds have been collected. Deposits made to any facility which is not staffed [Automated Teller Machine (ATM)], or any deposits made through the mail are not the responsibility of Credit Union of Denver until the credit union receives them. Credit Union of Denver acts only as your agent, assuming no responsibility beyond practice of ordinary care while handling any collections or deposits. We will not be liable for loss in transit or for any negligence of any correspondent. Each correspondent is responsible for and will only be liable for their own negligence.

Final Payment. All items or Automated Clearing House (ACH) transfers which are to be credited to your account are provisional and are dependent upon Credit Union of Denver's receipt of final payment. Credit Union of Denver reserves the right to refuse any item or ACH funds transfer. We reserve the right to charge your account for any such item and to charge a fee as stated in the Rates and Fee Schedule. Credit Union of Denver may charge you for any fee incurred by us relating to the collection of any item.

Returned Deposit Items. Should any items deposited or cashed by you be returned to us unpaid, we reserve the right to charge your account whether or not said funds have been made available for your use, or whether or not the funds are remaining in the account. If the funds are no longer available your account will be overdrawn by the amount of the returned item, along with the amount of any fee. Please refer to the Rates and Fee Schedule for a list of current fees. In addition the non-payment of an item may result in either temporary or permanent restrictions being placed on your account.

Right of Offset. Should your account go negative, or should you owe Credit Union of Denver money for any reason, at any time, Credit Union of Denver has the right to collect funds from any credit union account on which you are a co-owner or signer, without providing advance notice to you. Until any past-due monies owing to the credit union are paid in full, Credit Union of Denver is under no obligation to provide any services to you. Reinstatement of services after settlement of any debts owing to the credit union shall be within the sole and absolute discretion of the credit union. In the event of your death, the credit union shall have the right to hold all funds on deposit until satisfactory arrangements are made for payment of any outstanding indebtedness that you may owe to the credit union.

Direct Deposit. Credit Union of Denver may offer pre-authorized deposits including direct deposit, direct allocations and internal authorizations of transfer. Each direct deposit must be authorized by utilizing a separate authorized allocation or internal authorization of transfer. Credit Union of Denver reserves the right to request at least 30 days prior notice to initiate. Any direct deposit you fail to cancel when filing bankruptcy authorizes your employer and Credit Union of Denver to follow through with any pre-authorization we have on file at the credit union. Should the U.S. Government or any other governmental entity, for any reason, require the credit union to reimburse it for any benefit payment deposited into your account, Credit Union of Denver may deduct, unless prohibited by law, the amount to be returned from any of your accounts. The credit union is not liable for any costs or loss incurred by you if funds are not received. The Member is responsible for funds when the credit union receives a Reclamation request.

Crediting of Deposits. If a deposited item is returned unpaid, we have the right, not the obligation, to present the item for payment a second time, or more, although we are not required to do so. When presenting an item a second time, or more, for payment, we will not be liable for any consequences which may result. We also will not be responsible for any consequences if we do not present the item for payment a second time. Presentation two or more times may lengthen the period when the funds will be unavailable. Each time the item is returned unpaid, a return item fee may be imposed (Please refer to the Fee Schedule for a list of current fees). We will not pay interest on account deposits that are reversed because an item is returned unpaid.

Deposits made after business hours, on credit union holidays, and on days that are not business days will be credited to your account on the following business day. Additionally, if the form of a particular deposit is concerning to us, or requires further evaluation in our judgment, we may defer the decision to accept the item until the close of business the next business day in our sole and absolute discretion. Night deposits are processed on the day they are removed. Funds drawn on an institution located outside the United States will be sent for collection and credited to your account when we receive final payment. Funds received may include fees charged by the financial institution the funds are drawn on, as well as Credit Union of Denver. Please refer to the Fee Schedule.

Cross-Account Transfers. You agree that we have the right to refuse any requested cross-account transfers. Should you elect to link accounts you agree to hold the credit union harmless and indemnify the credit union from all losses, costs, damages and liabilities of any kind or nature stemming from any cross-account transfers performed by you or anyone else that you allow to access your accounts. You further agree that the credit union has no obligation to monitor account activity, or account or ownership changes, for appropriateness of continued cross-account transfer access. Once two or more accounts are linked, it shall be solely your responsibility to notify the credit union in the event that the linkage of the accounts is no longer deemed Desirable or appropriate. Additionally, you also understand and agree that owners of accounts linked to allow cross-account transfers may have access to view information pertaining to the linked account(s), regardless of whether they are listed as an owner of the linked account. Accordingly, if you request that an account be linked to another account, you waive any right of privacy with respect to all account owners or other third parties having access to the linked account, and you agree to hold the credit union harmless and indemnify the credit union from all losses, costs, damages and liabilities of any kind or nature stemming from any private information exchanged through the linking of accounts.

Credit Union Liability. You agree to give Credit Union of Denver the right to rely solely on the terms of the Agreement and on the type of the account in accepting payments of funds deposited to that account. Any conflict between any written form and any verbal representation by you or credit union employees shall be resolved by reference to this Agreement and any other applicable written form. In the event that a conflict or ambiguity arises between the terms of your Membership Card(s) and Addendum(s), your historical account documentation, your transaction documentation and any other documentation that we may receive or have in our possession related to you or your account(s), you agree that the credit union shall have the right to interpret such documentation or information in the manner deemed the most logical and appropriate by the credit union under the circumstances, and that the decision and interpretation of the credit union in that regard shall be final and binding upon you and all third parties, and shall not be subject to review or contestation. Should the credit union not complete a transaction according to this Agreement, we will be liable for your losses or damages not to exceed the amount of the transaction, unless applicable law provides otherwise. We will not be liable if: (1) your account contains insufficient funds for the transaction; (2) circumstances beyond our control prevent the transaction; (3) your loss is caused by your or another financial institution's negligence; (4) your account is subject to legal process or other claim; or (5) your account does not meet our membership requirements as set forth in this Agreement. We also reserve the right to deny liability related to any transaction when we determine that your own actions or omissions to act substantially contributed to the incurrence of the claim or loss. We may refuse to accept any check or draft drawn on your account that is presented for payment in person. Such refusal shall not constitute a wrongful dishonor of the check or draft and we shall have no liability for refusing payment. We will not be liable for consequential damages, except liability for wrongful dishonor. We exercise ordinary care if our actions or non-actions are consistent with applicable state law, Federal Reserve regulations and operating letters, clearing house rules, and general banking practices followed in the area we serve. You grant us the right, in making payments of deposited funds, to rely exclusively on the form of the account and the terms of this Account Agreement.

Liens and Security Interests. By applying for membership at the credit union you unconditionally grant the credit union a consensual security interest in all of your funds at any time on deposit with the credit union to secure all amounts that you may now or in the future owe to the credit union. If you or any person named as a joint account holder with you owe us money as a borrower, guarantor, endorser, account holder or otherwise, we may use the funds on deposit in any of the accounts in which you have an ownership interest to pay all or any portion of any debt or other amount which you or any joint account holder owe to us. This right of offset will not apply to loan obligations secured by your residence, or where prohibited by law. We may apply the funds on deposit to your obligations in any order deemed appropriate by us, including offset of funds on deposit prior to maturing, without further notice to you. If we choose not to enforce our security interest in your funds on deposit on a particular occasion, we do not waive our right to enforce the security interest later. All accounts are nonassignable and non-transferable to third parties.

Legal Process. If any legal action is brought against your account, we may pay out funds according to the terms of the action or refuse any payout until the dispute is resolved. Any expenses or attorney fees we incur responding to legal process may be charged against your account without notice, unless prohibited by law. Any legal process against your account is subject to our lien and security interest. Any collateral pledged by you at any time as security for any of your loan obligations to us (excluding real estate loans) shall also serve as collateral to secure payment of any and all other liabilities or obligations which you now or in the future may owe to us until we agree in writing to release our security interest on such loan collateral. This cross-collateral right of the credit union shall also extend to any and all additions, accessions, attachments, improvements, accessories, repairs, replacements or substitutions to such pledged collateral. If (a) you fail to provide your TIN to us, (b) we find that the TIN you provided is incorrect, or we suspect the TIN you provided to us is incorrect and you fail to provide us with satisfactory documentation verifying your TIN within fifteen (15) days of our written request, the credit union may suspend all activity on your account or close your account, whichever is applicable or deemed appropriate by the credit union.

Account Renumber. Account renumbering may be required for any account that has been compromised in the opinion of the credit union or that was otherwise reported to be involved in a fraudulent or potentially fraudulent transaction in order to minimize the risk of loss to all parties. Your failure to fully cooperate with the requested re-numbering of any account will be grounds for immediate closure of the account.

Fraud. Members are required to report fraudulent activity on their account no later than 60 days after the statement has been mailed. Credit Union of Denver may require that a police report be filed and that any individuals known or suspected to be involved in any reported fraudulent activity be listed as suspects in the police report. Credit Union of Denver also requires that a hard copy of the police report be provided by the member claiming fraudulent activity prior to the commencement of any internal investigation. The credit union is not required to credit funds back to an account as a result of claimed fraudulent activity until all required documents are received and our own internal investigation has been completed, and a determination is made that the claim of fraudulent activity is legitimate. The credit union may, but is not required to, provide provisional account credit while our internal investigation is ongoing as a member courtesy. In the event that provisional credit is provided and a claim of fraudulent activity is later denied or deemed unsubstantiated, any provisional credit will be reversed.

You understand that any individual you disclose your PIN(s) or Password(s) to may obtain information or withdraw or transfer funds from any of your accounts. CONSUMER LIABILITY

You are responsible for all transactions you authorize using EFT Services under this Agreement. If you permit other persons to use an EFT Service, Card or your PIN, you are responsible for any transactions they authorize or conduct on any of your accounts, even if that amount exceeds what you have authorized.

MasterCard® CREDIT CARD / DEBIT CARD (CARD)

You are responsible for all transfers you authorize using your EFT services under this Agreement. If you permit other persons to use an EFT service, POS/ATM or Debit Card, or access code, you are responsible for any transactions they authorize or conduct on any of your accounts. If you believe your Card or Personal Identification Number (PIN) has been lost, stolen, or compromised, or if you believe that someone has debited or transferred or may transfer money from your account without your permission or if you believe that your account has been compromised in some fashion, call us or write us immediately. Telephoning immediately is the best way of keeping your possible losses down. Your maximum liability for fraudulent or unauthorized transactions is $0 if (a) you notify us within two (2) business days after the loss or theft of your card or after learning of the fraudulent or unauthorized transaction(s), and (b) you have exercised reasonable care in safeguarding your card and/or PIN number from risk of loss or theft. If you do not notify us within two (2) business days after the loss or theft of your card or after learning of the fraudulent or unauthorized transaction, or you have failed to exercise reasonable care in safeguarding your card and/or PIN number from risk of loss or theft, then you may be liable for up to the lesser of (a) $500, or (b) the sum of the fraudulent or unauthorized transactions that occur after the close of two business days and prior to notice being given to us (in the case of your failure to timely provide notice). If your statement shows EFT transfers or transactions that you did not make, tell us at once. If you do not tell us within sixty (60) days after your statement was mailed to you or when your eStatement was made available for your review through online banking, you may be liable for the full amount of the unauthorized EFT transfers or transactions that occur after the close of the above-described sixty (60) day period and before notice to us. If a good reason (such as a hospital stay) kept you from telling us, we may extend the time periods. The thresholds identified above apply to unauthorized and fraudulent charges. The thresholds identified above do not apply to disputed charges. Disputes are transactions between the cardholder and the merchant that are not due to fraud. Disputed transactions are transactions that are initially initiated by the cardholder and the dispute can arise from issues including, but not limited to non-receipt of item(s) or dissatisfaction with product(s), etc. Fraudulent charges (unauthorized transactions) are transactions that were never authorized by the cardholder.

You may not use the Card for any illegal or unlawful transactions and we may decline to authorize any transaction that the credit union believes poses an undue risk of illegality or unlawfulness.

- We may add, delete or change the features or functions of the Service, at any time at the credit union's sole discretion, and without prior notice. REGULATION “CC” FUNDS AVAILABILITY (REG CC)

Under normal circumstances, Credit Union of Denver’s policy is to make funds from your deposits available to you on the same business day we receive your deposit. At that time, you can withdraw the funds in cash and we will use the funds to pay checks that you have written. However, Credit Union of Denver reserves the right to adjust this general policy on a case-by-case basis to address unusual or extraordinary circumstances that might arise with respect to any particular deposit item.

Please remember that even after we have made funds available to you and you have withdrawn the funds, you are still responsible for any checks you deposit that are returned unpaid.

For determining the availability of your deposits, every day is a business day except Saturdays, Sundays and federal holidays. If you make a deposit during normal business hours on a business day that we are open, we will consider that day to be the day of your deposit. However, if you make a deposit after business hours or on a day we are not open, we will consider that the deposit was made on the next business day we are open.

If you make a deposit using our night depository after 6:30 a.m. on a business day or on a day we are not open, we will consider that the deposit was made on the next business day we are open.

Longer Delays May Apply. In some cases, we will not make all of the funds that you deposit by check available to you on the same business day of your deposit. The length of delay is counted in business days from the date of your deposit.

Depending on the type of check that you deposit, funds may not be available until the second business day after the day of your deposit. However, the first $200.00 of your deposits will be available on the first business day after the date of your deposit.

If your deposit is made directly to one of our Credit Union of Denver employees, and we determine that we are not going to make all of the funds from your deposit available on the same business day, we will notify you at the time that you make your deposit. If we decide to take this action after you have left the premises, we will mail you the notice by the day after we receive your deposit. We will also tell you when the funds will be available.

If you will need the funds from a deposit right away, you should ask us when the funds would be available. In addition, funds you deposit by check may be delayed for a longer period under the following circumstances:

- Your account has been opened for less than thirty (30) days.
- We believe a check you deposit will not be paid.
- You deposit checks totaling more than $5,000.00 on any one day.
- You redeposit a check that has been returned unpaid.
- You have overdrawn your account repeatedly in the last six (6) months.
- There is an emergency, such as failure of communications or computer equipment.
- Other circumstances exist which cause the credit union to reasonably believe that a longer hold period is necessary in order to avoid loss to the credit union.

We will notify you if we delay your ability to withdraw funds for any of these reasons, and we will tell you when the funds will be available. They will generally be available no later than the seventh business day after the day of your deposit.

Holds on Other Funds: If we cash a check for you that is drawn on another financial institution, we may withhold the availability of a corresponding amount of funds that are already in your account. Those funds will be available at the time funds from the check we cashed would have been available if you had deposited it.

ATM/Service Center Deposits: If you make a deposit at an ATM or Service Center, $200.00 of your deposit will be immediately available. An additional $200.00 will be available for withdrawal at the start of business on the first business day following the business day of deposit. In most cases, deposits made at ATMs and Service Centers will be available for withdrawal no later than the second business day following the business day on which the deposit was made.

Special Rules for New Accounts: If you are a new member, the following special rules apply during the first thirty (30) days your account is open. Service Center/outlet access will not be available for the first 30 days. Funds from electronic direct deposits to your account will be available on the day we receive the deposit. Funds from deposits of cash, wire transfers and the first $5,000.00 of a day’s total deposits of U.S. Treasury, cashier’s, certified, teller’s, travelers, and federal, state, and local government checks will be available on the same business day if the deposit meets certain conditions. For example, the checks must be payable to you. The excess over $5,000.00 will be available no later than the ninth (9) business day after the day of your deposit.

If your deposit of these checks is not made in person to one of our employees, the first $5,000.00 will not be available until the fifth (5) business day after the day of your deposit.

Funds from all other check deposits will be available no later than the ninth (9) business day after the day of your deposit.

Foreign Checks: Checks drawn on financial institutions located outside the U.S. (foreign checks) are exempt from the policies outlined in this disclosure. The availability of funds for deposit of foreign checks will be delayed for the time it takes to collect the funds from the financial institution it was drawn on.

Should you fail to promptly notify us of any unauthorized or erroneous payment order as discussed above, we will not be liable to you for any subsequent similar occurrence that we could have prevented had we received such notice.

Choice of Law: We may accept, on your behalf, payments to your account that have been submitted by Fedwire and that are not subject to the Electronic Funds Transfer Act (“Regulation E”). Your rights and obligations with respect to such transfers shall be governed and construed in accordance with Regulation J, Subpart B-Funds Transfers Through Fedwire, and the applicable Federal Reserve Bank Operating Circular. Whenever an ACH is used as part of a transaction that does not involve Fedwire, the rules of that ACH will govern that part of the transaction. Where none of the above-stated rules apply, the transactions contemplated shall be governed by the laws of the State of Colorado, including Article 4A of the Colorado Uniform

Commercial Code.

Cut-off Time for Funds Transfers: Unless otherwise provided by the credit union in a separate schedule concerning specific types of funds transfers, the cutoff time for receipt and processing of payment orders shall be 12:00 pm on each funds transfer business day. The same cutoff time shall be applicable to communications canceling or amending a wire instruction.

Account Limitations: It is the policy of Credit Union of Denver to accept funds transfers from your savings, money market or checking accounts; however, with respect to savings or money market accounts, we will allow you to make no more than six withdrawals or transfers to another credit union account that you own, or to third parties, by means of a pre-authorized or automatic transfer, or telephonic order or instruction, or similar order, per month. Your account may be subject to closure if you exceed these limits.

Fees: We will charge you a fee (please refer to the Rates and Fee Schedule) for each payment order you give us. Credit Union of Denver makes no warranties with respect to fees charged by other financial institutions with respect to your payment orders.

Provisional Credit: Credit given by us to you with respect to an ACH entry is provisional until we receive final settlement for the credit entry through a Federal Reserve Bank. If we do not receive final settlement, you are hereby notified that we are entitled to a refund of the amount credited to you in connection with the credit entry. Moreover, you are hereby notified that the party making payment to you (the originator) shall not be deemed to have paid you the amount of the credit entry.

Your Liability for Incorrect Information: If you give us a payment order that identifies a beneficiary (the person to whom you are wiring funds) by name and account number or some other identifying number (such as a Social Security, Taxpayer I.D. or driver's license number), we may pay the beneficiary on the basis of the number provided to us by you and consider that number to be proper identification. This will be true even if the number provided to us identifies a person different from the named beneficiary, unless otherwise provided by law or regulation.

If you give us a payment order that identifies the beneficiary's financial institution in the funds transfer by name and Routing and Transit ("R/T") or other identifying number, we, as well as the receiving financial institution, may rely on the number provided to us by you as the proper identification. This will be true even if the number provided identifies a financial institution that is different from the named financial institution, unless otherwise provided by law or regulation.

Limitation of Liability: If we are ever obligated by law to pay interest on the amount of a transfer, you will be paid interest on a daily basis equal to the current dividend rate that is otherwise applicable to the account from which the funds transfer should have occurred. In the event we are ever liable to you for damages due to a transfer, your damages will be limited to actual damages only. We will not be responsible for incidental or consequential damages, court costs or attorney fees, unless otherwise provided by law or regulation. If you make a payment order which instructs us to wire funds to foreign countries, we assume no liability as to the length of time necessary to complete such a transfer, provided we have acted in good faith, with ordinary care, and in compliance with applicable law.
